Applications for our online King's College London Medicine and Dentistry Lecture Series 2027 are now open! We have supported over 14,000 students since we introduced our free programme five years ago.

This programme is for students across the UK in Year 11, 12, and 13 interested in becoming a doctor or dentist.

Over the course of the programme students will hear from a wide variety of speakers to help build their understanding of the opportunities and challenges of being a doctor and dentist, as well as guidance on the application process. Last year's lectures included the following:

- Medical and dental specialties: cardiology, oral surgery, renal transplant, and many more!
- Q&A's each week with our speakers and current medical/dental students
- Support with the application process: UCAT, personal statements, and interviews
- Q&A with admissions colleagues at KCL

Most importantly participants will become part of a community of like-minded students all interested in applying to medicine and dentistry and finding out what being a doctor and dentist really entails!

Lectures will run from January to April, with sessions taking place online via Zoom every Tuesdays evening, from 5:00-6:30pm.

For more information and to apply, students should follow this link. The deadline is Tuesday 1 December 9pm.

To be eligible for the programme students must be currently attending a state school. If the school is non-selective then students are automatically eligible to take part in the programme. For students studying at a state selective school, they must meet one of our widening participation criteria. For full details, please see the application form

Are you aged 18–24 and thinking about your next steps? You might be taking a break while you decide what to do next, in a job that isn't meeting your ambitions, or wondering how you might be able to combine higher education and work, or looking for ways to increase your chances of securing an apprenticeship.

Higher Technical Qualifications (HTQs) are Higher Education qualifications in England that are focused on the skills and knowledge employers need for higher skilled jobs. They typically follow qualifications such as A Levels, T Levels and BTECs, and are shorter than a university degree. They are often available part-time in a local FE college and are increasingly available as short modules. HTQs can be a great option for people who want to learn and gain new skills early in their career, are interested in sectors like engineering, health, IT and childcare, and are looking for really accessible routes into higher education.

By the end of the session, you will know:

- What HTQs are and where to find out more about them
- Why an HTQ could be a strong choice when planning your next steps
- What support is available to help you access an HTQ course
- How to find an HTQ course
